

Automatic Sprinkler Systems Help to Create Lush Lawns...

A sprinkler system can save you time, money, and water...

If you find yourself wasting countless hours each summer – dragging your hose and sprinklers around to water your lawn gardens – when you'd rather be hitting the links, lounging on the patio, entertaining friends – then an automatic sprinkler system may be just the answer. But, choosing the right system for your unique landscape requirements can be a daunting task – that's why it's best to get advice from an expert.

So we sought out Harry Hutten – president of Select Sprinklers in Burlington – for his take on the current state of lawn and garden sprinkler systems.

Meeting unique landscape requirements – Hutten told us, “Because each property is different, the sprinkler system it requires will also be different. Each landscape will have its own unique conditions, challenges, and objectives, so recommend having an experienced sprinkler contractor visit you to perform a property needs assessment. A professional contractor should then be able to design and install a sprinkler system suited specifically to your needs and beneficial to your property.”

Optimizing the use of current technology – Water controllers aren't exactly new technology, but one product the Rain Bird® Corporation is. Their ESP-SMT® Smart Controller is weather-based, meaning it only turns the sprinkler system on when the weather determines watering is necessary – which takes the thinking out of watering for you, the property owner.

The Benefits – A sprinkler system – and related, new technologies – not only take the stress out of watering your property, they also provide a number of benefits...

- Health & appearance – Watering consistently, but only when necessary will keep your lawn and gardens healthy, green, and lush
- Your landscape will be the envy of the neighborhood.
- A sprinkler system can save you water – Because you'll be watering only when, and for as long as necessary, you waste water or use it when it isn't required.
- A sprinkler system can save you money – a sprinkler system can save money by not needlessly wasting water, resulting potentially significant savings over time.
